

History Graduate Programme Newsletter

Vol. 1. no. 6

March/April, 1987

Robert Daley, PhD (I)

On 17 December, Bob Daley successfully defended his PhD thesis, 'Edmund Bailey O'Callaghan, Irish Patriote', before a committee consisting of Profs. Robin Burns (Bishops University); Jacques Monet (Regis College, Toronto); M.G. Decarie, Ronald Rudin, George Rudé and Effie Gavaki, all of Concordia. Congratulations to Bob, (and the Editor's apologies for omitting this announcement from the January Newsletter).

Annual Review of PhD Student Progress

In accord with procedures governing the doctoral programme as of this academic year, all doctoral students should meet with their Advisory or Thesis Committee to review progress over this academic year. Such meetings should also be utilized to define anticipated time limits for meeting future programme requirements. The Advisor, as Chairman of each Committee, should report to the Programme Director in writing on the progress of each student by 15 May, 1987.

The Graduate Committee Recommends a Restructured MA

Over the course of the past three months, the Department Graduate Committee has considered the present structure of the MA programme and found it wanting. Research seminars have become too small and their subject areas too specific to reflect student needs. The resulting proposal, to be presented to the Department at its April Meeting, would retain the seminar concept, but combine it with tutorial work as well. Any changes voted by the Department would go into effect for the 1988-89 academic year. Students will be governed by the rules which applied when they entered the Programme.

The E.E. McCullough Prize

The McCullough Prize is awarded annually for the best MA Original Essay in History. Nominations may be made at any time up to 1 May by any faculty member.
